

Cenosco Commitment to the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)

Version: May 2018

Commitment Statement

In May 2018, the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) replaces the existing 1995 EU Data Protection Directive (European Directive 95/46/EC).

Cenosco is committed to addressing EU data protection requirements applicable to us as a data processor and controller. These efforts have been critical in our ongoing preparations for the GDPR:

Internal Awareness

Cenosco employees undergone the data privacy and security training. Cenosco supplemented existing training modules with GDPR-specific content. In addition to these training requirements, Cenosco conducts ongoing awareness initiatives on a variety of topics, including data protection, security, and privacy.

Internal Assessment

Cenosco is continuously reviewing where and how our relevant services collect, use, store and dispose of personal data and updating policies, standards, governance and documentation as needed.

Client and Contractual Commitment

Working in conjunction with our partners and customers, Cenosco is reviewing its contractual commitments and updating as needed to directly address GDPR requirements. Cenosco is also reviewing its supplier contracts to ensure GDPR compliance throughout its supply chain.

Data Controller

Cenosco collects, stores and manages Personal Data in an unbiased and secure way. Cenosco will only use it for purposes that it has informed subjects about and sought consent for, following the principles of Data Protection by design and by default.

Data Processor

Our ability to fulfill our commitments as a data processor to our clients, the data controllers, is a part of our compliance with GDPR.

At Cenosco, we strive to deliver an exceptional customer experience globally. We will continue to implement additional required operational changes resulting from the new regulation. For this, we have an internal cross-functional team and a Data Protection Officer who continue to monitor GDPR as it moves to become more clearly defined over the next few months.
